The Civil Service Touched Up To-day.

Messrs. Hale, Vest, Voorhees and Logan Have the First Tilt in the Senate To-day.

Mr. Seney Introduces His Civil Service Bill and Other Measures are There.

WASHINGTON.

The Proceedings in Both Houses To-day.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The chair laid before the senate a letter from the postmaster general complying with the call of the recent senate resolution, in respect to the appointment of postmasters in Maine, alleged to have been procured through the influence of S. S. Brown, chairman of the democratic committee of that state. Mr. Hale made some remarks on the letter endorsing civil service but making no appeal for the man.

Mr. Hale continued to criticize the action of Brown in quitting his business and coming to Washington to attend to getting Maine appointments. He charged him with collecting money from appointees and said out of one hundred appointments Brown had recommended eighty-seven.

Mr. Vest and Mr. Voorhees replied to Mr. Hale and they were followed by Logan. Mr. Vest thought Hale's talk was mere cant. Mr. Voorhees said he believed the government should be administered by friends of the party in power. Mr. Logan reminded the last named that congress had not been completely in the hands of the republicans for some time. The communication was referred to the committee on civil service reform.

The president sent the following nominations to the senate to-day: James Shields, of Montana, to be collector of internal revenue for the district of Montana. Postmasters—Thomas Ryan, at Sault Ste Marie, Mich.; Charles Holaday, St. Louis, Mich.

HOUSE.

The senate joint resolution accepting Ohio's statute of James A. Garfield on motion of E. B. Taylor was laid on the table for the present.

Among the bills introduced and referred was one by Mr. Seney, of Ohio, to repeal the civil service act, also to make shareholders in national banks individually responsible for debts of the bank.

By Mr. Wilkins, of Ohio, to provide for the issue of circulating notes to national bank associations.

A constitutional amendment, introduced in the house by Mr. Davis, of Massachusetts, provides that congress shall have power to limit the hours of labor.

The constitutional amendment proposed by Mr. McAdoo, of New Jersey, provides that the presidential electors shall be elected in every state on the third Tuesday in October; and that no other officers than representatives in congress shall be elected on the same day. Mr. McAdoo also introduced a bill depriving of the right of suffrage all polygamists, or persons who are members of organizations that encourage other persons to commit bigamy.

Mr. Cutcheon's bill to reform the civil service makes it unlawful for any head of a department, or chief of a bureau, to solicit advice or recommendations from any senator or representative in regard to the removal or appointment of any official in any of the executive departments, or for senators or representatives to nominate or recommend, or to solicit or request the appointment of any person to any position in either the executive or judicial departments. It makes the violation of any of its provisions a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $1,000 and a cause for the removal of the appointed officers and for the impeachment of the elected officers. It provides for the establishment of a bureau of civil appointments to consist of the civil service commission and the officers, examiners and other employees thereof and of civil service appointment boards in each judicial circuit of the United States, to consist of three members each, who shall reside within the circuits, which boards shall be subordinate to the civil service commission, and whose duties shall be to examine and report in regard to any matter referred to them by the president or heads of departments, as to the resignation, removal or appointment of any executive or judicial officer; the recommendation of these boards, however, to be advisory only.

Condition of Hon. John Kelly.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 6.—A Dispatch special from Clifton Springs, N. Y., says: "John Kelly, of New York, at all accounts, was quite benefited by the treatment received while at Clifton Springs, but owing to his intense love for the interests of Tammany Hall he allowed his physician's advice to go unheeded, and is again suffering from nervous prostration. In some respects his illness is peculiar. He is quite well one day and not so well the next. Cheerful company, riding horseback and driving are considered his best lines of treatment. A general change by getting out of politics would do him more good than all else besides. If this is not done soon he will gradually grow worse and become a hopeless case."

Fire Record.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 6.—About five o'clock this morning a 15,000 barrel tank of refined oil caught fire from some unknown cause at the Standard Oil Co.'s No. 1 works. The other large tanks in dangerous proximity caused apprehensions of a great fire but it was confined to the single tank.

A LIFE SKETCH.

Congressman Lowry as the Congressional Directory Paints Him.

The Indianapolis Journal prints the life histories of Indiana congressmen and this will interest Fort Wayne people:

Twelfth district—Robert Lowry, of Fort Wayne, was born in Ireland; removed in early youth to Rochester, N. Y.; was instructed in the elementary branches at private schools and had partial academic course, but education was mainly self-acquired; was librarian of Rochester Athenaeum and Young Men's association; studied law; removed to Fort Wayne; was elected by the common council, while yet under age, city recorder; was re-elected, but declined; was admitted to the bar; commenced practice in Goshen, Ind., in 1846; was appointed by the governor circuit judge in 1852, to fill vacancy for an unexpired term; was unexpectedly nominated by the democrats in 1856, in a district having a large adverse majority, as a candidate for congress, and defeated only by a close vote; in 1860 was president of the democratic state convention, and one of the four delegates at large to the democratic national convention; in 1861 and 1862, while still retaining residence and practice in Indiana, had a law office in Chicago; in 1864 was nominated by the democrats and elected circuit judge for a term of six years; while still occupying the bench he was again nominated by the democrats in 1866, and renominated in 1868, as a candidate for congress in heavily republican districts and defeated, but by reduced majorities; in 1867 resumed his residence in Fort Wayne; was re-elected circuit judge on the expiration of his term, in 1870, without opposition; was delegate at large to the democratic national convention in 1872; resigned the circuit judgeship in January, 1875, and resumed practice in Fort Wayne as a member of the firm of Lowry, Robinson & O'Rourke; in September, 1877, was appointed by the governor, on the unanimous recommendation of the bar, as judge of the newly-created superior court, and afterward elected as such in 1878, by a unanimous popular vote; was elected the first president of the Indiana State Bar association in July, 1879; on the expiration of his term as judge, in 1882, he was elected to the forty-eighth congress, and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress as a democrat, receiving 19,507 votes, against 16,957 votes for Keator, republican, 369 votes for Harstuck, and 303 votes for Gale.

FALSE WEIGHT.

Will Acquit Agent Lynn of the Wabash.

The committee of three appointed to investigate charges of underbilling east-bound shipments of grain preferred against Local Freight Agent Lynn, of the Wabash, at Indianapolis, will make their report this week. They have been making the rounds of the elevators since their appointment and it is generally understood that they have found no evidence upon which they can return a report declaring the accused guilty. It is understood that similar charges will be preferred against other east bound roads in a few days. The Indianapolis lines have been howling about underbilling ever since the east bound pool has been in existence, and it's ten chances to one that the majority of them live in "glass houses." The only way to stop this howl forever is to establish the system of weighing now in vogue in all the large cities of the west except Indianapolis.

FRIEGHT BLOCKADE.

How the Storms Have Stopped Traffic.

Both the Panhandle and Fort Wayne railroads of the Pennsylvania company, and the Pennsylvania railroad are suffering from numerous freight blockades. The two first mentioned have long lines of loaded freight cars on the sidings the whole length of the Pittsburgh division, and are working everything to the limit to get the stuff out of the way. This is something unusual at this time of the year, more especially as there have been as yet no snows to blockade the tracks. It is thought that unless heavy storms set in, the freight may be cleared out inside of another week or ten days. The Pennsylvania railroad, for about twenty miles east has more freight on sidings than it can move at once, and it will take several days to clear them up.

"For forms of government let fools contest." For ordinary life it is enough to know that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cures coughs and colds.

WITH FURY

The Storm Still Rages Out West.

Pope Leo is Reported in Splendid Health—Mandalay is Threatened.

Three Men Killed in a Tunnel—Elevated Railroad Engineers to Strike To-day.

THE BLIZZARD.

It Rages in the Mountain Regions.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 6.—A storm of unusual violence prevails in the mountains. The blockades on the railroads are the worst known for years. In Northern Colorado the thermometer varied from 20 to 30 degrees below zero, the worst phase of the storm is the necessarily disastrous effect it will have upon the cattle interests. The unparalleled cold weather in Northern New Mexico will cause great damage to the mammoth herds grazing there.

POPE LEO

Is Enjoying Perfect Health.

ROME, Jan. 6.—It is learned on the highest authority that there is no truth in the reports which have been put in circulation regarding the health of Pope Leo. So far as his condition being precarious or delicate, as has been asserted, it is officially announced that his holiness is in perfect health.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Dispatches say that ten thousand rebels are scouring the country within a radius of twenty miles of Mandalay and they threaten to attack the town which is not sufficiently garrisoned.

A STRIKE

Is Likely on the Elevated Railroad.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Manhattan elevated railroad management have decided not to accede to demands of engineers and, in all probability, the engineers will go on a strike early to-day.

Grand Chief Arthur, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of the United States, arrived yesterday morning and after investigating the engineers' complaints decided that they were just.

CUT UP.

Three Men Killed in a Tunnel.

CANTON, W. Va., Jan. 6.—A wreck occurred on the Chesapeake and Ohio road, at Stretchers Neck Tunnel, near here, Monday, by which three men were killed and three others wounded. The men were raising the track in the tunnel when a freight train, which had not been warned, entered the tunnel and was derailed, piling cars in confusion. Clark Richard, Howard and C. R. Dickson were killed and Moses Jones, Ben. Thomas and George Hurt were wounded. Trains were delayed twenty-four hours.

Business Failures.

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Herman Webber & Co., dealers in jewelry and watchmakers' supplies, at 427 Washington street, have failed. Liabilities, $27,000.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 6.—The wholesale hardware store of Thomas Birney & Co., has been closed by the sheriff on executions for judgments aggregating $25,000. They met with severe losses last winter by supplying skates to rinks and not being paid for them.

A Congressman Married.

NASHVILLE, Jan. 6.—At Pulaski, Tennessee, Hon. Benton McMillan, congressman for the fourth Tennessee district, was married to Miss Marie Brown, daughter of ex-Governor John O. Brown, of Tennessee, at Union City.

MISS LOUIE HOWARD is the "angel" of Burlington, Vt. She has given the Howard Relief Association $10,000 and part of the Exchange Block. She has also assisted several young men in the high school and college—several now depending upon her charity. Her home has always been a most charitable one, and their names are hundreds that have enjoyed her generosity. She is now confined to her room, only waiting for the end, being of frail constitution.

THE EPIPHANY.

The Feast Closest to Christmas Day.

This is the feast of the Epiphany and the Catholic and Episcopal churches observe it. Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger celebrated high mass at the Cathedral this morning and Rt. Rev. Bishop Borgess preached a most eloquent sermon. Rector W. N. Webb conducted services at Trinity Episcopal church and duly observed the holiday.

This feast was called Epiphany and celebrated in January is attested by Ammius Marcellinus (xvi. 2) who says Julian kept it at Vienna in Gaul. That it was kept on January 6 is seen in the constitutions of Valens, Theodosius and Arcadius. January 6 was held to be the day on which the miraculous star led the wise men to Bethlehem, and that on which Christ was baptized in the Jordan, as well as that on which he performed his first public miracle at Cana. St. Paulinus affirms that these three anniversaries were solemnized on this same day in the fourth century. Some African churches commemorated a fourth event, the multiplication of the five loaves by Christ. From the time of the council of Nice (325) this day was set apart throughout the east for the solemn administration of baptism. It was also the custom there, at midnight on the feast of the Epiphany, to fetch water from the springs, which was believed to keep fresh and pure the whole year. St. Epiphanius says this was done in memory of the water changed into wine at Cana. It was on the Epiphany, in fine, that patriarchs and metropolitans yearly published the "paschal letters" announcing the precise time for the celebration of Easter and Pentecost. Several of them are extant.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

"Forgiven, or Jack o' Diamonds," was seen at the Temple last night. Mr. Clay Green, formerly a San Francisco journalist, but now of New York City, wrote the play and may be he shocked very modest people, but he conceived a pretty clever drama. Mr. Fred Bryton is an old actor, and as Jack o' Diamonds appears at his best. The support is truly excellent and altogether the play was superbly presented. It suffers like other dramas because it has not a queer name and is not denominated a "side-splitter." People out here want to laugh just now.

John Ring's Successor.

The county commissioners met this afternoon and appointed Barney Tibbetts, of New Haven, trustee of Adams township. Mr. Tibbetts is a good man and was highly recommended for the position.

Dr. T. J. Dills was this afternoon appointed secretary of the county board of health.

WONDERFULLY sweet and fresh is the description in Mr. Tennyson's new volume of poor Molly Magee, whose lover, Danny O'Roon, strayed into a bog one night and was not heard of for forty years when his body was fished out of the bog unchanged by its long sojourn: "Och, Molly Magee, and the red o' the rose an' the white o' the May, An' yer hair as black as the night an' yer eyes as bright as the ay; Achora! yer lassy little whisper was sweet as the lilt o' a bird; Achush! ye set me heart battin' to music wid every word. An' sorra the queen wid her scepter in such an elegant han'; An' the fall o' yer foot in the dance was as light as snow on the lan'."

A STONINGTON, Conn., man who has chewed tobacco over fifty years has suddenly given it up. He states that when a baby he was very cross, and no remedy for his ill-nature could be found. One day, creeping on the floor, he chanced upon a chunk of tobacco, put it in his mouth, and the effect was magical. He was a good-natured baby thereafter. So he was given tobacco along with his milk. Now, after fifty years, he eschews the weed.

A WOMAN in the northern part of Vermont is telling of the way she fooled the inspecting Dr. Kay, of Newport, on one of the recent Montreal trains. She had determined not to be vaccinated on the train, and so sewed a button under the sleeve of the dress near where the arm is usually scraped. The inspector came along and ordered her to bare her arm. "But it isn't necessary, sir; you can feel the scab," she said. He planted his hand on the button. The woman gave a scream of pretended pain, and Dr. Kay moved along.

Fifty cents spent on a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, the great cure for rheumatism, and twenty-five cents for a bottle of the new discovery, Red Star Cough Cure, which removes throat and lung troubles, is as good an investment as a life insurance policy.

COMING HOME.

Commissioner Edgerton to Resign.

A Special Says the Civil Service Chairman Will Quit Office Next Month.

The Ohio Legislative Committee Hunting Clerk Dalton at Cincinnati.

IS IT TRUE?

Commissioner Edgerton to Resign.

SPECIAL to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Civil-service Commissioner Edgerton expects to resign his position very soon after his nomination is confirmed. He staid to a friend to night that when he consented to accept the appointment, it was with the understanding that he would be permitted to retire from it on the first of February. So much time has elapsed, however, without his being confirmed, that he has determined to stay a few weeks after his confirmation.

CANT FIND DALTON.

Cincinnati Election Frauds a Little at Sea.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 6.—The committee on privileges and elections of the house of representatives of the Ohio general assembly met here to-day to examine poll boxes, tally sheets, etc., in order to determine by what right members from Hamilton county hold their certificates. County Clerk Dalton not being in his office and the committee not being able to find him, his representatives declined to deliver any documents to the committee. The committee then held an executive session.

Senator Sherman's Successor.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 6.—The republican senatorial caucus to name a candidate to succeed Hon. John Sherman, will be held Thursday evening.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The stock market 1/4 per cent. lower, but in early dealings prices were strong, the general list advancing 1/8 per cent. If they became heavy and most of the early gains were lost. At 11 o'clock the market is dull and firm at prices generally a small fraction above opening prices. Money easy at 2 1/2 per cent.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Wheat opened strong and 1/4c higher, with moderate trade. No. 2 red, January, 90 1/2c. Corn, 1/4c lower, dull and quiet. Mixed Western, 43 1/2c.

Every reader of military history and every patriotic citizen ought to hear General Charlton's lecture on "Sherman's March Through Georgia," at the Masonic Temple, on Wednesday evening, January 6, 1886. He lectured at Huntington lately under the auspices of the Chautauque Literary Circle. Those who heard him say his two hours' lecture is worth weeks of reading and study. Old soldiers who have heard it pronounce it accurate and his description of camp life and battle scenes vivid and realistic. Tickets to be had at Woodworth's drug store. Box office open Monday morning. Seats reserved without extra seats.

They are Not Sorry.

There is one thing nobody ever regrets—that is, the day they first adopted Parker's Tonic as their regular family medicine. Its range is so wide, and its good effects so sure, that nothing else, except good nursing, are needed in a great majority of cases. Buy it, try it, and afterwards it will not require any praise from us.

Dissolution of Co-Partnership.

The firm of Morris, Aldrich & Barrett is this day dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Aldrich will occupy the rooms No. 52 and Morris & Barrett the rooms 52 1/2 Calhoun street, being the rooms occupied by the late firm. All pending business of the late firm will receive the attention of its members.

CONTAGIOUS

Diseases are prevalent all over the world.

I am a native of England, and while I was in that country I contracted a terrible blood poison, and for two years was under treatment as an outdoor patient at Nottingham Hospital, England, but was not cured. I suffered the most agonizing pains in my head and limbs, I had vertigo and dizziness, with partial loss of sight, severe pains in my bones, and was covered with sores all over my body and limbs. ## BLOOD

Is the life, and he is wise who remembers it. But in March of last year (1884), I contracted blood poison, and being in Savannah, Ga., at the time, I went into the hospital there for treatment. I suffered very much from rheumatism at the same time. I did not get well under the treatment there, nor was I cured by any of the usual means. I have now taken seven bottles of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I feel as if I have been cured. I can say with great joy that they have cured me entirely. I am as sound and well as ever was in my life.

had produced great holes in my back and chest, and had removed all the hair of my head, yet I began to improve in a week's time, and the sores began to heal, and were entirely gone inside of eight weeks.

A Noted Scientist.

THE LATE PROFESSOR JOHN C. DRAPER.

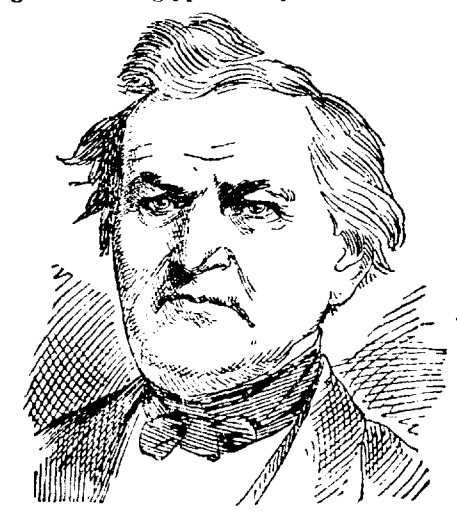

The death of Professor John C. Draper in New York, at the age of 50, removes another of that celebrated family of scientists, and will bring regrets to practitioners of medicine or those interested in medical science the world over. Professor Draper had about reached the fullness of knowledge and had just finished the task of committing some of it to paper in the form of an advanced text book of medical physics when he was called away. His last illness was pneumonia, and the best medical skill together with his own, aided by his robust constitution, was unable to withstand its attack. He died after two days' sickness.

Professor Draper was a Virginian, and a son of the late Professor John W. Draper. In 1857 he was graduated from the medical department of the University of the City of New York. He spent the following year pursuing his studies in Europe. On his return he became professor of analytical chemistry at the university from which he was graduated. Here he continued for life as a professor of all lectures in various departments. Professor Draper published many scientific papers of great value, which showed the originality of his researches. His paper on tobacco, which was an argument against its use, created a sensation both here and in Europe. Trinity college, Hartford, conferred the degree of LL. D. on Dr. Draper in 1873. In 1864 he married. His widow survives him, but no children.

One of the Founders of Mormonism.

RICHMOND, Mo., Dec. 29.—Your correspondent called at the house of David Whitmer and obtained the portrait sent herewith. Mr. Whitmer was the associate of Joseph Smith in bringing into existence the Book of Mormon, and retained the original manuscript from which the book was printed. The origin of the Mormon church is a matter of history, but it might be well to recall here a portion of it, in order to explain the part Mr. Whitmer took in it. David Whitmer was born in Pennsylvania in 1805. While an infant he was carried to Ontario county, near Watkins Glen, N. Y. His father was a strict Presbyterian, and David was brought up rigidly, though he possessed a natural inclination to contemplation on religious affairs. In 1829 David Cowdery, the village schoolmaster, who was a brother-in-law of Whitmer, heard that a man named Joseph Smith had discovered a valuable golden treasure near Manchester.

After considerable entreaty Cowdery was permitted to see the treasure, which consisted of a number of golden plates, about eight inches long and seven inches wide, about as thick as ordinary sheet-iron, and bound together in the form of a volume by three gold rings. A large portion of the volume was securely sealed, but on the loose pages were engraved hieroglyphics expressive of some language at that time unknown to any of the persons mentioned. Together with the golden tablets were a pair of spectacles, set in silver bows. Smith told how he had received the plates from two angels who commanded to have them translated in the presence of three witnesses. In accordance with this command, Smith, Cowdery and Whitmer proceeded to the latter's house, accompanied by Smith's wife, and bearing with them the precious plates and spectacles.

The work of translating the tablets consumed about eight months. Smith acting as the scribe and Oliver Cowdery, Smith's wife, and Christian Whitmer, brother of David, performing the duties of amanuenses. By the aid of the spectacles found with the plates Smith was enabled to decipher the characters.

The Book of Mormon was given to the world in 1830 and a church organized. The following year the disciples moved to Ohio and built a temple at Kirtland. Mr. Whitmer, who always adhered to the teachings of Mormon, left Kirtland and journeyed into the wilds of Missouri, establishing the settlement of Jackson county, Missouri. It was here that the Ohio Mormons found refuge when driven away from Kirtland after Smith and Rigdon had been tarred and feathered for fraudulent banking.

As a citizen of Richmond he stands deservedly high, having filled the office of mayor and councilman. Of those who took part in the original translation, Joseph Smith was shot by a mob in 1844. Oliver Cowdery died in this country thirty years ago, leaving a wife and daughter, both of whom are yet living, and reside in Silver City, Mo. John Whitmer, a prosperous farmer, died at Far West in 1878, leaving children and grandchildren. Jacob Whitmer passed away many years ago, and his son, John C., a white-haired elder of the Church of Christ, continues to preach the religion of his father in and about Richmond.

Mr. Whitmer adhered faithfully to the Mormon creed, with the exception of what he termed the "viper polygamy," which is strictly forbidden by the Book of Mormon. Though he split off from the church when Brigham Young joined it, he always held that Joseph Smith was an upright, God-fearing man. The Mormon church offered him once $100,000 for the original manuscript of the Book of Mormon, which he refused, and it is interesting to know now what will become of it.

FOSTER THE MEDIUM.

Charlatan, Wonder Monger and Mystery, He Died of Softening of the Brain.

(Special Correspondence.) BOSTON, Jan. 2.—This individual was a very strange person. In manners he was wholly ordinary. His morals perhaps were by no means of the best, and yet he could perform what at times seemed to be real miracles. He was born in Boston 53 years ago. He attended the Phillips' school in that city, and was rather a dull pupil, it is said. His strange power began to develop itself in school. Loud raps were heard from time to time near his desk. Before long loud noises began to awaken him at night, and in the morning the furniture of his room would be scattered topsy-turvy. Then objects in his room would be heard moving about when nobody was present, as though invisible invisible were performing a devil's dance.

CHARLES FOSTER.

Soon after this he left school, and was taken in charge by a Boston mesmerist. Thence he developed into a spiritual "medium." He was always a strange creature, boy and man. It may be interesting to know that when in England he was the guest for days of Lord Lytton, who made him the foundation for his character of Margrave, in the novel "A Strange Story." At the age of 40 he was a "portly man, tall in stature, with gray hair, moustache and imperial, and big, staring, light gray eyes." While performing his wonders he led a rigidly temperate and regular life. Then occasionally he would stop over and amuse himself with the rest of the boys. While the fit lasted he indulged in any dissipation he chose. But during this time there was no wonder-mongering. Crouching destroyed his peculiar gifts for the time.

These powers were marvelous, and some of them inexplicable by any known laws. Once when he was in the west, at Terre Haute, Ind., an old man from Illinois came to see him.

"A woman is here; a near relative of yours," said Foster, in his brusque, jerky way.

"I don't know her," said the old man. "You do," retorted Foster. "She died years ago suddenly in a mysterious way. She is a daughter or sister."

"I don't know any such person," said the bewildered old man.

Foster sprang to his feet and paced the floor. He stamped, gesticulated, and was strongly excited.

"I tell you, you do know her," he said, angrily. He looked much as though he wished to collar his visitor and shake the knowledge into him. He became half wild in his excitement.

"Here, stop," he exclaimed. "Why can't you think of her name? Oh, yes; I have it. It's Laura, that's what it is."

In his excitement he shouted the word "Laura" in a high key.

The old man was in his turn excited now. "Oh, yes, I see," he replied, quickly. "Why couldn't I think of that before! Laura was my sister. She died many years ago, very suddenly, and we never knew what caused her death. Ask her what she died of."

The medium explained that it was some brain trouble, of such a nature that death came suddenly.

Here was a case which must be put quite beyond the pale of thought reading or thought transference. The dead woman was not only not in the visitor's mind, but it was with difficulty that Foster recalled her to his memory.

Foster made enormous sums of money, which he gave away as fast as it came. In Europe and Australia they called him "The American Puzzle." Once he suddenly became homesick, when he was earning $500 a day in Australia, and he threw this all over and came home in the next ship.

A brain trouble overtook him years ago, since which time he has been out of his mind mostly and under guardianship. He died at last of softening of the brain at the residence of his aunt, Mrs. Call, Salem, Mass.

He was a half charlatan and half mystery. The question one involuntarily asks is this: With all his abnormal powers, what good did he do?

CONGRESS.

The Civil Service Touched Up To-day.

Messrs. Hale, Vest, Voorhees and Logan Have the First Tilt in the Senate To-day.

Mr. Seney Introduces His Civil Service Bill and Other Measures are There.

WASHINGTON.

The Proceedings in Both Houses To-day.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The chair laid before the senate a letter from the postmaster general complying with the call of the recent senate resolution, in respect to the appointment of postmasters in Maine, alleged to have been procured through the influence of S. S. Brown, chairman of the democratic committee of that state. Mr. Hale made some remarks on the letter endorsing civil service but making no appeal for the man. Mr. Hale continued to criticize the action of Brown in quitting his business and coming to Washington to attend to getting Maine appointments. He charged him with collecting money from appointees and said out of one hundred appointments Brown had recommended eighty-seven.

Mr. Vest and Mr. Voorhees replied to Mr. Hale and they were followed by Logan. Mr. Vest thought Hale's talk was mere cant. Mr. Voorhees said he believed the government should be administered by friends of the party in power. Mr. Logan reminded the last named that congress had not been completely in the hands of the republicans for some time. The communication was referred to the committee on civil service reform.

The president sent the following nominations to the senate to-day: James Shields, of Montana, to be collector of internal revenue for the district of Montana. Postmasters—Thomas Ryan, at Sault Ste Marie, Mich.; Charles Holiday, St. Louis, Mich.

The senate joint resolution accepting Ohio's statue of James A. Garfield on motion of E. B. Taylor was laid on the table for the present.

Among the bills introduced and referred was one by Mr. Seney, of Ohio, to repeal the civil service act, also to make shareholders in national banks individually responsible for debts of the bank.

By Mr. Wilkins, of Ohio, to provide for the issue of circulating notes to national bank associations.

A constitutional amendment, introduced in the house by Mr. Davis, of Massachusetts, provides that congress shall have power to limit the hours of labor.

The constitutional amendment proposed by Mr. McAdoo, of New Jersey, provides that the presidential electors shall be elected in every state on the third Tuesday in October; and that no other officers than representatives in congress shall be elected on the same day. Mr. McAdoo also introduced a bill depriving of the right of suffrage all polygamists, or persons who are members of organizations that encourage other persons to commit bigamy.

Mr. Couteaux bill to reform the civil service makes it unlawful for any head of a department, or chief of a bureau, to solicit advice or recommendations from any senator or representative in regard to the removal or appointment of any official in any of the executive departments, or for senators or representatives to nominate or recommend, or to solicit or request the appointment of any person to any position in either the executive or judicial departments. It makes the violation of any of its provisions a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $1,000 and a cause for the removal of the appointed officers and for the impeachment of the elected officers. It provides for the establishment of a bureau of civil appointments to consist of the civil service commission and the officers, examiners and other employees thereof and of civil service appointment boards in each judicial circuit of the United States, to consist of three members each, who shall reside within the circuits, which boards shall be subordinate to the civil service commission, and whose duties shall be to examine and report in regard to any matter referred to them by the president or heads of departments, as to the resignation, removal or appointment of any executive or judicial officer; the recommendation of these boards, however, to be advisory only.

Condition of Hon. John Kelly.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
PITTSBURG, Jan. 6.—A Dispatch special from Clifton Springs, N. Y., says: "John Kelly, of New York, at all accounts, was quite benefited by the treatment received while at Clifton Springs, but owing to his intense love for the interests of Tammany Hall he allowed his physician's advice to go unheeded, and is again suffering from nervous prostration. In some respects his illness is peculiar. He is quite well one day and not so well the next. Cheerful company, riding horseback and driving are considered his best lines of treatment. A general change by getting out of politics would do him more good than all else besides. If this is not done soon he will gradually grow worse and become a hopeless case."

Fire Record.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 6.—About five o'clock this morning a 15,000 barrel tank of refined oil caught fire from some unknown cause at the Standard Oil Co.'s No. 1 works. The other large tanks in dangerous proximity caused apprehensions of a great fire but it was confined to the single tank.

A LIFE SKETCH.

Congressman Lowry as the Congressional Directory Paints Him.

The Indianapolis Journal prints the life histories of Indiana congressmen and this will interest Fort Wayne people: Twelfth district—Robert Lowry, of Fort Wayne, was born in Ireland; removed in early youth to Rochester, N. Y.; was instructed in the elementary branches at private schools and had partial academic course, but education was mainly self-acquired; was librarian of Rochester Athenaeum and Young Men's association; studied law; removed to Fort Wayne; was elected by the common council, while yet under age, city recorder; was re-elected, but declined; was admitted to the bar; commenced practice in Goshen, Ind., in 1848; was appointed by the governor circuit judge in 1852, to fill vacancy for an unexpired term; was unexpectedly nominated by the democrats in 1856, in a district having a large adverse majority, as a candidate for congress, and defeated only by a close vote; in 1860 was president of the democratic state convention, and one of the four delegates at large to the democratic national convention; in 1861 and 1862, while still retaining residence and practice in Indiana, had a law office in Chicago; in 1864 was nominated by the democrats and elected circuit judge for a term of six years; while still occupying the bench he was again nominated by the democrats in 1868, and renominated in 1869, as a candidate for congress in heavily republican districts and defeated, but by reduced majorities; in 1867 resumed his residence in Fort Wayne; was re-elected circuit judge on the expiration of his term, in 1870, without opposition; was delegate at large to the democratic national convention in 1872; resigned the circuit judgeship in January, 1875, and resumed practice in Fort Wayne as a member of the firm of Lowry, Robinson & O'Rourke; in September, 1877, was appointed by the governor, on the unanimous recommendation of the bar, as judge of the newly-created superior court, and afterward elected as such in 1878, by a unanimous popular vote; was elected the first president of the Indiana State Bar association in July, 1879; on the expiration of his term as judge, in 1882, he was elected to the forty-eighth congress, and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress as a democrat, receiving 19,507 votes, against 16,957 votes for Keator, republican, 369 votes for Harstuck, and 803 votes for Gale.

FALSE WEIGHT

Will Acquit Agent Lynn of the Wabash.

The committee of three appointed to investigate charges of underbilling east-bound shipments of grain preferred against Local Freight Agent Lynn, of the Wabash, at Indianapolis, will make their report this week. They have been making the rounds of the elevators since their appointment and it is generally understood that they have found no evidence upon which they can return a report declaring the accused guilty. It is understood that similar charges will be preferred against other east bound roads in a few days. The Indianapolis lines have been howling about underbilling ever since the east bound pool has been in existence, and it's ten chances to one that the majority of them live in "glass-houses." The only way to stop this howl forever is to establish the system of weighing now in vogue in all the large cities of the west except Indianapolis.

FRIEGHT BLOCKADE.

How the Storms Have Stopped Traffic.

Both the Paulhandle and Fort Wayne railroads of the Pennsylvania company, and the Pennsylvania railroad are suffering from numerous freight blockades. The two first mentioned have long lines of loaded freight cars on the sidings the whole length of the Pittsburg division, and are working everything to the limit to get the stuff out of the way. This is something unusual at this time of the year, more especially as there have been as yet no snows to blockade the tracks. It is thought that unless heavy storms set in, the freight may be cleared out inside of another week or ten days. The Pennsylvania railroad, for about twenty miles east has more freight on sidings than it can move at once, and it will take several days to clear them up.

"For forms of government let fools contest." For ordinary life it is enough to know that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cures coughs and colds.

WITH FURY

The Storm Still Rages Out West.

Pope Leo is Reported in Splendid Health—Mandalay is Threatened.

Three Men Killed in a Tunnel—Elevated Railroad Engineers to Strike To-day.

THE BLIZZARD.

It Rages in the Mountain Regions.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
DENVER, Col., Jan. 6.—A storm of unusual violence prevails in the mountains. The blockades on the railroads are the worst known for years. In Northern Colorado the thermometer varied from 20 to 30 degrees below zero, the worst phase of the storm is the necessarily disastrous effect it will have upon the cattle interests. The unparalleled cold weather in Northern New Mexico will cause great damage to the mammoth herds grazing there.

POPE LEO

Is Enjoying Perfect Health.

By Cable to THE SENTINEL.
ROME, Jan. 6.—It is learned on the highest authority that there is no truth in the reports which have been put in circulation regarding the health of Pope Leo. So far as his condition being precarious or delicate, as has been asserted, it is officially announced that his holiness is in perfect health.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Dispatches say that ten thousand rebels are scouring the country within a radius of twenty miles of Mandalay and they threaten to attack the town which is not sufficiently garrisoned.

A STRIKE

Is Likely on the Elevated Railroad.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Manhattan elevated railroad management have decided not to accede to demands of engineers and, in all probability, the engineers will go on a strike early to-day.

Grand Chief Arthur, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers of the United States, arrived yesterday morning and after investigating the engineers' complaints decided that they were just.

OUT UP.

Three Men Killed in a Tunnel.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
CANTON, W. Va., Jan. 6.—A wreck occurred on the Chesapeake and Ohio road, at Streubers Neck Tunnel, near here, Monday, by which three men were killed and three others wounded. The men were raising the track in the tunnel when a freight train, which had not been warned, entered the tunnel and was derailed, piling cars in confusion. Clark Richard, Howard and C. R. Dickson were killed and Moses Jones, Ben. Thomas and George Hurt were wounded. Trains were delayed twenty-four hours.

Business Failures.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Herman Webber & Co., dealers in jewelry and watch makers' supplies, at 427 Washington street, have failed. Liabilities, $27,000.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 6.—The wholesale hardware store of Thomas Birney & Co., has been closed by the sheriff on execution for judgments aggregating $25,000. They met with severe losses last winter by supplying skates to rinks and not being paid for them.

A Congressman Married.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
NASHVILLE, Jan. 6.—At Pulaski, Tennessee, Hon. Benton McMillan, congressman for the fourth Tennessee district, was married to Miss Marie Brown, daughter of ex-Governor John C. Brown, of Tennessee, at Union City.

MISS LOUIE HOWARD is the "angel" of Burlington, Vt. She has given the Howard Relief Association $10,000 and part of the Exchange Block. She has also assisted several young men in the high school and college—several now depending upon her charity. Her home has always been a most charitable one, and their names are hundreds that have enjoyed her generosity. She is now confined to her room, only waiting for the end, being of frail constitution.

THE EPIPHANY.

The Feast Closest to Christmas Day.

This is the feast of the Epiphany and the Catholic and Episcopal churches observe it. Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger celebrated high mass at the Cathedral this morning and Rt. Rev. Bishop Borgess preached a most eloquent sermon. Beator W. N. Webbe conducted services at Trinity Episcopal church and duly observed the holiday.

This feast was called Epiphany and celebrated in January is attested by Ammiens Marcellinus (xvi. 2) who says Julian kept it at Vienna in Gaul. That it was kept on January 6 is seen in the constitutions of Valens, Theodosius and Arcadius. January 6 was held to be the day on which the miraculous star led the wise men to Bethlehem, and that on which Christ was baptized in the Jordan, as well as that on which he performed his first public miracle at Cana. St. Paulinus affirms that these three anniversaries were solemnized on this same day in the fourth century. Some African churches commemorated a fourth event, the multiplication of the five loaves by Christ. From the time of the council of Nice (325) this day was set apart throughout the east for the solemn administration of baptism. It was also the custom there, at midnight on the feast of the Epiphany, to fetch water from the springs, which was believed to keep fresh and pure the whole year. St. Epiphanius says this was done in memory of the water changed into wine at Cana. It was on the Epiphany, in fine, that patriarchs and metropolitans yearly published the "paschal letters" announcing the precise time for the celebration of Easter and Pentecost. Several of them are extant.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

"Forgiveness, or Jack o' Diamonds," was seen at the Temple last night. Mr. Clay Green, formerly a San Francisco journalist, but now of New York City, wrote the play and may be he shocked very modest people, but he conceived a pretty clever drama. Mr. Fred Bryton is an old actor, and as Jack o' Diamonds appears at his best. The support is truly excellent and altogether the play was superbly presented. It suffers like other dramas because it has not a "side-splitter." People out here want to laugh just now.

John Ring's Successor.

The county commissioners met this afternoon and appointed Barney Tibbitts, of New Haven, trustee of Adams township. Mr. Tibbitts is a good man and was highly recommended for the position.

Dr. T. J. Dills was this afternoon appointed secretary of the county board of health.

Wonderfully sweet and fresh is the description in Mr. Tennyson's new volume of poor Molly Magoo, whose lover, Danny O'Hoon, strayed into a bog one night and was not heard of for forty years when his body was fished out of the bog unchanged by its long soaking: "Och, Molly Magoo, with the red o' the rose an' the white of the May, An' yer hair as black as the night an' yer eyes as bright as the day; Ach, yer last little whisper was sweet as the lit o' a bird; Ach, ye set me heart battin' to music wid every word, An' some the queen wid her scepter in such an elegant han'; An' the fall of yer foot in the dance was as light as snow on the lan'."

A STONINGTON, Conn., man who has chewed tobacco over fifty years has suddenly given it up. He states that when a baby he was very cross, and no remedy for his ill-nature could be found. One day, creeping on the floor, he chanced upon a clunk of tobacco, put it in his mouth, and the effect was magical. He was a good-natured baby thereafter. So he was given tobacco along with his milk. Now, after fifty years, he eschews the weed.

A WOMAN in the northern part of Vermont is telling of the way she fooled the impostor Dr. Kay, of Newport, on one of the recent Montreal trains. She had determined not to be vaccinated on the train, and so sewed a button under the sleeve of the dress near where the arm is usually scraped. The inspector came along and ordered her to bare her arm. "But it isn't necessary, sir; you can feel the scab," she said. He planted his hand on the button, the woman gave a scream of pretended pain, and Dr. Kay moved along.

Fifty cents spent on a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, the great cure for rheumatism, and twenty-five cents for a bottle of the new discovery, Red Star Cough Cure, which removes throat and lung troubles, is as good an investment as a life insurance policy.

COMING HOME.

Commissioner Edgerton to Resign.

A Special Says the Civil Service Chairman Will Quit Office Next Month.

The Ohio Legislative Committee Hunting Clerk Dalton at Cincinnati.

IS IT TRUE?

Commissioner Edgerton to Resign.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Civil-service Commissioner Edgerton expects to resign his position very soon after his nomination is confirmed. He stood to a friend to night that when he consented to accept the appointment, it was with the understanding that he would be permitted to retire from it on the first of February. So much time has elapsed, however, without his being confirmed, that he has determined to stay a few weeks after his confirmation.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 6.—The committee on privileges and elections of the house of representatives of the Ohio general assembly met here to-day to examine poll boxes, tally sheets, etc., in order to determine by what right members from Hamilton county hold their certificates. County Clerk Dalton not being in his office and the committee not being able to find him, his representatives declined to deliver any documents to the committee. The committee then held an executive session.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 6.—The republican senatorial caucus to name a candidate to succeed Hon. John Sherman, will be held Thursday evening.

THE MARKETS.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The stock market 1/4% per cent. lower, but in early dealings prices were strong, the general list advancing 1/4% per cent. It then became heavy and most of the early gains were lost. At 11 o'clock the market is dull and firm at prices generally a small fraction above opening prices. Money easy at 2 3/4 per cent.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Wheat opened strong and 1/4% higher, with moderate trade. No. 2 red, January, 90 1/2 @ 90 3/4. Corn, 1/4% lower, dull and quiet. Mixed Western, 43 1/2 @ 44.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Every reader of military history and every patriotic citizen ought to hear General Charlton's lecture on "Sherman's March Through Georgia," at the Marion Temple, on Wednesday evening, January 6, 1886. He lectured at Huntington lately under the auspices of the Chautauque Literary Circle. Those who heard him say his two hours' lecture is worth weeks of reading and study. Old soldiers who have heard it pronounce it accurate and his description of camp life and battle scenes vivid and realistic. Tickets to be had at Woodward's drug store. Box office open Monday morning. Seats reserved without extra.

They are Not Sorry.

There is one thing nobody ever regrets—that is, the day they first adopted Parker's Tonic as their regular family medicine. Its range is so wide, and its good effects so sure, that nothing else, except good nursing, are needed in a great majority of cases. Buy it, try it, and afterwards it will not require any praise from us.

Dissolution of Co-Partnership.

The firm of Morris, Aldrich & Barrett in this day dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Aldrich will occupy the rooms No. 52 and Morris & Barrett the rooms 52 1/2 Calhoun street, where the rooms occupied by the late firm. All pending business of the late firm will receive the attention of its members.

CONTAGIOUS

Diseases are prevalent all over the world.

I am a native of England, and whilst I was in that country I contracted a terrible blood poison, and for two years was under treatment as an outdoor patient at Nottingham Hospital, England, but was not cured. I suffered the most agonizing pains in my joints, and was covered with sores all over my body and limbs. I had vertigo and a stiffness, with partial loss of sight, severe pains in my head and eyes, etc. Which nearly ran me crazy. I lost all hope in that country, and settled for America, and was treated at Rochester in this city, as well as by a prominent physician in New York having no connection with the hospital. I saw the advertisement of Swift's Specific, and I determined to give it a trial as a last resort. I had given up all hope of being cured, as I had gone through the hands of the medical men in Nottingham and New York. I took six bottles of S. S. S. and I can say with great joy that they have cured me entirely. I am as sound and well as ever was in my life.

BLOOD

In the life, and he is a man who remembers it. But in March of last year (1883), I contracted blood poison, and being in Savannah, Ga., at the time, I went into the local hospital there for treatment. I suffered very much from rheumatism at the same time. I did not get well under the treatment there, nor was I cured by any of the usual means. I have now taken seven bottles of Swift's Specific, and am sound and well. It drove the poison out through the pores of the skin.

Two years ago I contracted blood poison. After taking prescriptions from the best physicians here and at Dulles, I concluded to visit Hot Springs, and on reaching Texas, a doctor recommended me to try Swift's Specific, assuring me that it would cure me more than Hot Springs. Although the had produced great holes in my back and chest, and had removed all the hair of my head, yet I began to improve in a week's time, and the sores began to heal, and were entirely gone inside of eight weeks.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Old National Bank of Fort Wayne, will be held at the banking office on Tuesday, January 12, 1886, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the election of five directors to serve the ensuing year.

THE LATE PROFESSOR JOHN C. DRAPER.

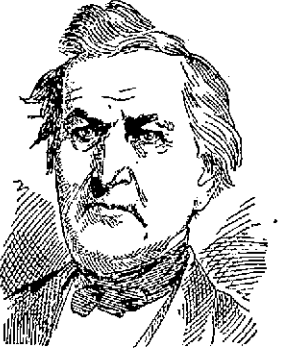

The death of Professor John C. Draper in New York, at the age of 50, removes another of the celebrated family of scientists, and will bring regrets to practitioners of medicine or those interested in medical science the world over. Professor Draper had about reached the fullness of knowledge and had just finished the task of committing some of it to paper in the form of an advanced text book of medical physics when he was called away. His last illness was pneumonia, and the best medical skill together with his own, aided by his robust constitution, was unable to withstand its attack. He died after two days' sickness.

Professor Draper was a Virginian, and a son of the late Professor John W. Draper. In 1837 he was graduated from the medical department of the University of the City of New York. He spent the following year pursuing his studies in Europe. On his return he became professor of analytical chemistry at the university from which he was graduated. Here he continued for life as a professor and lecturer in various departments. Professor Draper published many scientific papers of great value, which showed the originality of his researches. His paper on tobacco, which was an argument against its use, created a sensation both here and in Europe. Trinity college, Hartford, conferred the degree of LL. D. on Dr. Draper in 1873. In 1884 he married. His widow survives him, but no children.

One of the Founders of Mormonism.

RICHMOND, Mo., Dec. 29.—Your correspondent called at the house of David Whitmer and obtained the portrait sent herewith. Mr. Whitmer was the associate of Joseph Smith in bringing into existence the Book of Mormon, and retained the original manuscript from which the book was printed. The origin of the Mormon church is a matter of history, but it might be well to recall here a portion of it. In order to explain the part Mr. Whitmer took in it. David Whitmer was born in Pennsylvania in 1816. While an infant he was carried to Ontario county, near Watkins Glen, N. Y. His father was a strict Presbyterian, and David was brought up rigidly, though he possessed a natural inclination to contemplation on religious affairs. In 1828 David Cowdery, the village schoolmaster, who was a brother-in-law of Whitmer, heard that a man named Joseph Smith had discovered a valuable golden treasure near Manchester.

After considerable contrary Cowdery was permitted to see the treasure, which consisted of a number of golden plates, about eight inches long and seven inches wide, about as thick as ordinary sheet-iron, and bound together in the form of a volume by three gold rings. A large portion of the volume was securely sealed, but on the loose pages were engraved hieroglyphics expressive of some language at that time unknown to any of the persons mentioned. Together with the golden tablets were a pair of spectacles, set in silver bows. Smith told how he had received the plates from two angels who commanded to have them translated in the presence of three witnesses. In accordance with this command, Smith, Cowdery and Whitmer proceeded to the latter's home, accompanied by Smith's wife, and bearing with them the precious plates and spectacles.

The work of translating the tablets consumed about eight months, Smith acting as scribe and Oliver Cowdery, Smith's wife, and Christian Whitmer, brother of David, performing the duties of amanuenses. By the aid of the spectacles found with the plates Smith was enabled to decipher the characters.

The Book of Mormon was given to the world in 1830 and a church organized. The following year the disciples moved to Ohio and built a temple at Kirtland.

Mr. Whitmer, who always adhered to the teachings of Mormon, left Kirtland and journeyed into the wilds of Missouri, establishing the settlement of Jackson county, Missouri. It was here that the Ohio Mormons found refuge when driven away from Kirtland after Smith and Rigdon had been tarred and feathered for fraudulent banking.

As a citizen of Richmond he stands deservedly high, having filled the office of mayor and councilman. Of those who took part in the original translation, Joseph Smith was shot by a mob in 1844. Oliver Cowdery died in this county thirty years ago, leaving a wife and daughter, both of whom are yet living, and reside in Silver City, Mo. John Whitmer, a prosperous farmer, died at Far West in 1875, leaving children and grandchildren. Jacob Whitmer passed away many years ago, and his son, John C., a white haired elder of the Church of Christ, continues to preach the religion of his father in and about Richmond.

Mr. Whitmer adhered faithfully to the Mormon creed, with the exception of what he termed the "viper polygamy," which is strictly forbidden by the Book of Mormon. Though he split off from the church when Brigham Young joined it, he always held that Joseph Smith was an upright, god-fearing man. The Mormon church offered him once $100,000 for the original manuscript of the Book of Mormon, which he refused, and it is interesting to know now what will become of it.

FRANCIS J. KELAND.

FOSTER THE MEDIUM.

Charlatan, Wonder Monger and Mystery. He Died of Softening of the Brain.

Special Correspondence.
BOSTON, Jan. 2.—This individual was a very strange person. In manners he was wholly ordinary. His morals perhaps were by no means of the best, and yet he could perform what at times seemed to be real miracles. He was born in Boston 53 years ago. He attended the Phillips' school in that city, and was rather a dull pupil, it is said. His strange power began to develop itself in school. Loud raps were heard from time to time near his desk. Before long loud noises began to awaken him at night, and in the morning the furniture of his room would be scattered topsy-turvy. These objects in his room would be heard moving about when nobody was present, as though spirits invisible were performing a devil's dance.

CHARLES FOSTER.

Soon after this he left school, and was taken in charge by a Boston mesmerist. Thence he developed into a spiritual "medium." He was always a strange creature, boy and man. It may be interesting to know that when in England he was the guest for days of Lord Lytton, who made him the foundation for his character of Margrave, in the novel "A Strange Story." At the age of 40 he was a "portly man, tall in stature, with gray hair, moustache, and imperial, and big, staring, light gray eyes." While performing his wonders he led a rigidly temperate and regular life. Then occasionally he would stop over and amuse himself with the rest of the boys. While he fit lasted he indulged in any dissipation he chose. But during this time there was no wonder-mongering. Carousing destroyed his peculiar gifts for the time.

These powers were marvelous, and some of them inexplicable by any known laws. Once when he was in the west, at Terre Haute, Ind., an old man from Illinois came to see him.

"A woman is here; a near relative of yours," said Foster, in his brusque, jerky way.

"I don't know her," said the old man. "You do," retorted Foster. "She died years ago suddenly in a mysterious way. She is a daughter or sister."

"I don't know any such person," said the bewildered old man.

Foster sprang to his feet and paced the floor. He stamped, gesticulated, and was strongly excited.

"I tell you, you do know her," he said, angrily. He looked much as though he was about to collar his visitor and shake the knowledge into him. "He became half wild in his excitement."

"Here, step," he exclaimed. "Why can't I think of her name? Oh, yes; I have it. It's Laura, that's what it is."

In his excitement he shouted the word "Laura" in a high key.

The old man was in his turn excited now. "Oh, yes, I see," he replied, quickly. "Why couldn't I think of that before? Laura was my sister. She died many years ago, very suddenly, and we never knew what caused her death. Ask her what she died of."

The medium explained that it was some brain trouble, of such a nature that death came suddenly.

Here was a case which must be put quite beyond the pale of thought reading or thought transference. The dead woman was not only not in the visitor's mind, but it was with difficulty that Foster recalled her to his memory.

Foster made enormous sums of money, which he gave away as fast as it came. In Europe and Australia they called him "The American Puzzle." Once he suddenly became homesick, when he was earning $500 a day in Australia, and he threw this all over and came home in the next ship.

A brain trouble overtook him years ago, since which time he has been out of his mind mostly and under guardianship. He died at last of softening of the brain at the residence of his aunt, Mrs. Call, Salem, Mass.

He was half charlatan and half mystery. The question one involuntarily asks is this: With all his abnormal powers, what good did he do?

At this rate in another year the employees of the Wabash will be paid as promptly as on most other roads.

As the Wabash and C. H. & D. have agreed hereafter to weigh all freights forwarded from Indianapolis which pool business, would it not be well to clean the slate of all irregularities and restore harmony again amongst the east-bound roads? No one so me to have profited by the underbidding, as the trunk lines weighed the property at the western termini and set the weight up to the actual figures.

The Wabash road for December reports a business increase, being about forty per cent. above the same month the year before, and twenty per cent. better for the year 1885 than for 1884, the increase in freight traffic being about fifteen per cent. One reason given for the large increase in the month of December, is the change in time of running one of the trains from 3:45 in the morning to 6:50 in the evening, which seems to better accommodate the traveling public.

The master's report in the Wabash case, together with the form of a decree of foreclosure and sale, was submitted in the United States court yesterday at St. Louis, before Judges Brewer and Treat. Although Fred Bryton, of the "Jack o' Diamonds" company, had quite a small audience at the Temple last night, he will nevertheless pleasantly remember Fort Wayne. Young Henry Willman, chief of messengers of the Western Union, found the book and gave it to Manager Perry, who remembered having seen Mr. Bryton use the peculiarly shaped purse when paying for a postage stamp, at the "Home" last night, after the performance. On the return of his lost money, Mr. Bryton naturally invested in another round of postage stamps.

The depression in theatrical business throughout the country continues to make itself painfully manifest to managers. Indeed, the season, which started off with a rush, and which looked from every point of view as though it would be one of the greatest on record, has about gone to pieces outside of New York, and with very rare exceptions, traveling companies have been doing a worse business than has been known in a long time, even including last season, which was regarded as the worst in a decade.

Catarrh Can be Cured

That exceedingly disagreeable and very prevalent disease, catarrh, is caused by secretions in the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla, by its powerful purifying and vitalizing action upon the blood, speedily removes the cause, and thus effects a radical and permanent cure of catarrh. Those who suffer from its varied symptoms—uncomfortable flow from the nose, offensive breath, ringing and bursting noises in the ears, swelling of the soft parts of the throat, nervous prostration, etc.—should take Hood's Sarsaparilla and be cured.

The Best Medicine
"I have suffered with catarrh in my head for years, and paid out hundreds of dollars for medicines, but have heretofore received only temporary relief. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and now my catarrh is nearly cured, the weakness of my body is all gone, my appetite is good—in fact, I feel like another person. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I have ever taken." MRS. A. CUNNINGHAM, Providence, R. I.

Serious consequences are liable to ensue if catarrh is not attended to in season. The disease frequently destroys the sense of smell and often develops into bronchitis or pulmonary consumption. Undoubtedly many cases of consumption originate in catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh and has even effected remarkable cures of consumption itself, in its early stages. A book containing statements of many cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, will be sent free to all who send address to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Catarrh and Impure Blood
"Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped me more for catarrh and impure blood than anything else I ever used." A. HALL, Syracuse, N. Y.

The catarrh is yielding, as Hood's Sarsaparilla is cleansing my blood, and the general tone of my system is improving." FRANK WASHBURN, Rochester, N. Y.

WEEK OF PRAYER.
How the Supplications are Directed.

The union of the churches during the week of prayer has been highly beneficial and a source of spiritual profit in years past, and therefore by previous arrangement at the ministers' meeting a week ago, it was concluded to carry out the usual program laid down by the Evangelical Alliance. The services will be held in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church this week, beginning on Monday, Jan. 4, at 2 o'clock and will continue each day at the same hour. The following topics, with leaders' names and dates, are given for reference and ready access:

The prayers to-day were devoted to the revival and increase of a missionary spirit in the hearts of all who believe; for home missions and evangelical efforts—that more laborers, full of the spirit of love and power, may be sent forth, and that a great gathering of souls may take place; for native Christians among the heathen—that they may be kept steadfast and zealous in seeking the salvation of their countrymen; for missionaries and teachers—that great grace and wisdom may be given to them; for God's ancient people, Israel—that they may be brought into the faith of Christ; and for the maintenance of religious liberty in all lands.—Ezek. xxxvii, Acts x, 34-48, Rom. xi, 23-30, Job ii, 21-32, Acts xxvi, 12-23, 1 Thess. i, 10, Micah. iv, Zach. iv.

The prayers to-morrow will be directed to the church and the family—that the church of Christ may be more united in the bonds of faith and love; that, holding fast the Head, it may grow with the increase of God; that it may be delivered from false apostles and wolves in sheep's clothing; that Christ may be all in all in its teaching, and that the grace of the Holy Spirit may rest more and more on Christian families; on all instructors and pupils in institutions of learning; on Sunday schools and on Christian associations of young men and women.—Ephes. iv, 1-24; John xv, 1-12; John xvii, 8-26; Col. iii, 1-17; Prov. xxiii, 13-30; Gal. v; Acts xx, 28-38; Epistle Jude; Proverbs iv.
